“ . . . I keep picturing all these little kids playing some game in this big field of rye and all. Thousands of little kids, and nobody’s around — nobody big, I mean — except me. And I’m standing on the edge of some crazy cliff. What I have to do, I have to catch everybody if they start to go over the cliff — I mean if they’re running and they don’t look where they’re going, I have to come out from somewhere and CATCH them. That’s all I’d do all day. I’d just be the catcher in the rye and all. I know it’s crazy, but that’s the only thing I’d really like to be. I know it’s crazy.” — Catcher in the Rye by J.D. Salinger

"THE BIRDMAN OF MCP"

Capt. Kevin T. Mason, MC

Once this great land harbored more wildlife than any region in the entire world. We have heard of brown seas of roaming bison, now gone . . . but few know of the migrating birds which swept our country in such uncountable numbers that their propagation seemed preserved forever. These migrating flocks of waterfowl and landbirds would cover every habitable area and rise in incredible clouds so dense that no man could see the sun. Then came the market hunter, the sportsman, and the indiscriminate killer; each slaughtering thousands of birds with every volley of lead. Today the massive flocks will be seen no more . . . only the scant survivors of their shattered ranks struggling against extinction.

"Do not confuse "duty" with what other people expect of you; they are utterly different. Duty is a debt you owe to yourself to fulfill obligations you have assumed voluntarily. Paying that debt can entail anything from years of patient work to instant willingness to die. Difficult it may be, but the reward is self-respect.

But there is no reward at all for doing what other people expect of you, and to do so is not merely difficult, but impossible.

Time is your total capital, and the minutes of your life are painfully few.

So learn to say No — and to be rude about it when necessary.

Otherwise you will not have time to carry out your duty, or to do your own work, and certainly not time for love and happiness."

CLASS OF 1981

Coming to MCP as individuals,
drawn from across the nation,
products of diverse experience independently struggling towards a common goal.

WE HAVE MADE IT!

Our class has become a cohesive entity,
strengthened in unity and mutual reinforcement.

We have four years to share together —
the joys, excitements, disappointments, and triumphs.

It was bound to happen. Amid the confusion, contusions, and intrusions, somewhere between FRESHMAN and JUNIOR . . .

. . . an entire class was lost. It no longer mattered that there weren't enough monographs or handouts . . .

. . . or wide enough stairways . . .

. . . or enough space in the cubicles . . .

. . . or enough seats in the cafeteria.

On the morning of Sept. 6, 1977, the Path Dept reported to Vital Signs the disappearance of the entire Sophomore class. Top-notch forensic pathologists from all four corners of Peterson Lab were summoned in a vain attempt to solve the riddle of . . .

What Ever Happened to the Class of '80?

Investigators searched for clues in students' notes scattered in B-11 . . .

Masterminds of clinical investigation employed all methods known to man or yeast. Despite all efforts to keep the operations hush-hush, a nationwide panic set in. Relatives of the missing students tied up phone lines with inquiries into the possibility of a total tuition refund. Medical schools across the country worried whether students vanishing was to reach epidemic proportions or was merely endemic to the Medical College of Pennsylvania. In the face of all these obstacles, the search endured.

. . . in widely-read publications . . .

. . . and in smears taken from Ann Preston Hall.

Hope was fading. Not a sound was heard from the Class of 1980.

With money running low, persistent investigators found alternate sources of funds.

Veins of information within the institution rapidly depleted and the investigators took to the field. Several witnesses reported a mass exodus from the Microbiology lab at 1:05, therefore a common destination was suspected. The proprietor of the Green Door denied knowledge of the class's whereabouts, despite the suspicious name change of the establishment to the Saloonery.

Investigators made sure not to skip any leads.

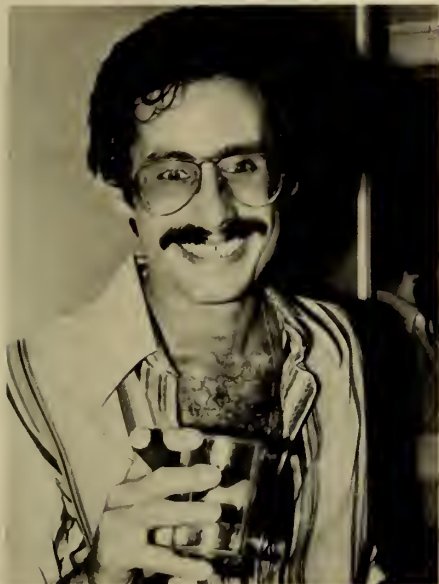

The first breakthroughs came with the discovery of two lone students — one buried beneath a large mound of paper and another in a local gym.

Their persistence paid off when a couple of couples were found coupled.

After checking with local beer distributors, a large bill charged to MCP was discovered. Under duress, the Pharmacology Department admitted to having received half of the shipment, allegedly for experimental purposes. The other half was traced to an address in Germantown. Investigators were seen hurrying in that direction.

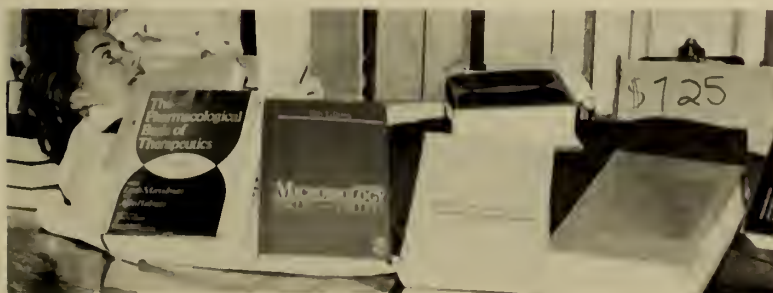

Upon arrival at said address, investigators were greeted by a class representative.

More sophomores were found within . . .

. . . some of them evidencing consumption of a large quantity of the shipment in question.

Their findings as to the cause of the disappearance? An overdose of basic sciences.

DELTA
CHAPTER

MOTTO: “Worthy to Serve the Suffering”

---

A much loved woman who spent a long and distinguished career serving the Medical College of Pennsylvania was named emeritus professor of pediatrics in 1977.

Harriet Mitchell Arey, M.D., of Narberth, Pa., came to MCP (then Woman's Medical College of Pennsylvania) in 1949 as an instructor in pediatrics. Until her retirement in July of 1977, she was an active member of the pediatric faculty, staff, and had served as an associate professor of pediatrics since 1964.

Board certified in 1954, Dr. Arey is a member of the American Academy of Pediatrics and the Philadelphia Pediatric Society. A graduate of Bryn Mawr College, she earned her medical degree at John Hopkins School of Medicine, completed her internship at Baltimore City Hospital and finished her residency requirements in pediatrics at the Mayo Clinic. She was a teaching fellow in pathology at the University of Minnesota and later was an instructor in pediatrics at Tulane University School of Medicine in New Orleans.

During her years at the Medical College of Pennsylvania, Dr. Arey did several tours of duty as Acting Chairman of the Department of Pediatrics. She was responsible for getting the Children and Youth Program off to a fine start and for several years was in charge of the Pediatric Outpatient Department. She had a major commitment to the training of house staff and was Director of the Pediatric Training Program for many years. Her greatest joys, however, came from her intimate involvement as a teacher and adviser to students and young physicians, and in her devoted care of pediatric patients. The loyalty and devotion of this dedicated woman will be missed by her colleagues who hope that she will continue to enjoy coming back to share in many departmental activities.

At the end of your road?
Is the earth crumbling beneath your feet?

Don't Despair . . . Not when you can take

DONADODAT

Tablet and Elixir

(snoretriptyline ethyl lactate HCL)

The new horizon in anti-suicidal, anti-psychotic, anti-anxiety agents. DONADODAT works by selectively wiping out the limbic system and cortical areas, dissociating the body and soul from the stressful and anxiety-provoking situations of every day life in medical school. Action occurs in a few minutes.

INDICATIONS:

Attempted or threatened suicide. Off-the-wall psychosis. Probably effective in severe anxiety attacks associated with Match Day, Graduation, and Internship. Can be used to drop out for a few days.

CONTRAINDICATIONS:

None that we can think of.

WARNINGS:

Safety not established in faculty members.

PRECAUTIONS:

Don't take DONADODAT on your days off, weekend trips, or while on vacation, unless you like to be a Stiff on your Own Time.

ADVERSE REACTIONS:

Decorticate posturing, impaired performance, tardive dyskinesia, headache, but you'll be too spaced out to notice.

DOSAGE:

0.5 mg is all you need.

SUPPLIED:

Chewable tablets containing 0.5 mg DONADODAT and artificially sweetened with cyclamates, artificially colored with Red Dye No. 2. Available in bottles of 1000 tablets.

Elixir containing 0.5 mg DONADODAT dissolved in 8 oz. of white lightning. Available in handy six pack.

TREE SURGEONS:

TRICH'N'ITCH

(Smirk, Dull, and Dumb brand of griseofullofit)

Specific for thallus lichens

Also effective against aphids, termites, and blight

Now available in convenient portable ten gallon spray cans.

One squirt lasts six months.

If business-minded doctors have their day in court, ads similar to this will be appearing in local newspapers throughout the country . . .

With the high cost of medical care today, an ounce of prevention is worth a ton of cure. Fight disease before it strikes, and save on future inflated medical bills.

After forty years in clinical practice, I have seen the ravages of those diseases which most commonly affect men and women.

To reduce the incidence of these maladies and to introduce you to my reasonable rates, I suggest the following:

THE CARDIAC SPECIAL . . .
